

Mrs. Lake's Classroom News

slake@palos118.org
January 30, 2017

Reading

This week's essential question is "How can one person change the way you think?" All of our stories will focus on this essential question. The focus skills this week are visualize, cause and effect, and figurative language. Please review the Home/School Connection (it was sent home last week) to review these skills with your child. You can also access the Wonders website for additional practice and to read the stories we are working on this week.

Important Dates

February 10th

Early Dismissal
12:00

February 14th

PFA Valentine's Day Parties
See attached class list

February 20th

President's Day
No School

Souper Bowl Drive

Please consider donating canned items for our annual can drive. The donations will go to the Palos Township Food Pantry. The class with the most cans will win an outdoor party in the spring. Thank for supporting our school and community!!

Spelling

This week your child has 20 words to study for their test on Friday, February 3rd. The pattern they are working on this week is r-controlled vowels (ar and or). Their spelling packet is also due on Friday.

Science

The children are working on their endangered animal projects. They are almost complete. The projects are being made with iMovie. I am excited to post them on SeeSaw so you can see the great work they have done. I'll let you know when they have been added. Later this week we will be working on our next Scope, Fossils.